

14th January 2020

This half term we have lots of wonderful topics planned for your children. We are thinking about Winter as a season and will be exploring that. We are also spending some time looking at the Julia Donaldson book 'Stickman.' On the run up to half term we will be looking at celebrations, in particular Valentines Day, Christingle and Chinese New Year which actually takes place on 25th January. We will be exploring this theme through all areas of learning, eating Chinese food (how lucky are we!!!!), looking at lots of different films and pictures, playing games, reading books, researching on the internet and creating our own masterpieces!

Please continue to check the website hettypreschool.co.uk for further information and photos of your children.

Here at HETTY, we focus on child initiated learning and building topics based around the ideas of the children. We are therefore encouraging the children to contribute their own ideas towards our topics. Please discuss this themes further with your child at home. Your child might like to bring music, books or resources to school to aid their learning. Please ensure any items are labelled clearly with their name. We look forward to busy and exciting weeks ahead!

The HETTY Team

Please record any of your child's or your own ideas about any of the topics mentioned that we could talk about and use in our lessons and hand this section back to your keyworker. Thank you.
